

Precis: 2019; 2nd Paragraph

Sadly, over-burdened ^{→ teachers} cannot continue the same affection and are compelled to treat children as just part of their job. According to the author, teaching shouldn't be one's sole profession and maximum two hours to be spent with children per day. As children are naughty, avoid disciplines, which for long term can irritate teachers, the irritation being uncontrollable reflects itself. In such situation, it is better not to bound teachers with rules to treat children rather they should be free on their reactions and that will not be a bad decision as the zeal of living in children is far better than the rules of institute.

(106 words).