

PRECTS : 2002 CSS

Solution:

Title: "Language: A maker of human beings and civilization"

Man has been regarded as the knower (Homo-sapiens) and the doer (Homo-faber). Moreover,

Combining these two definitions it can be termed as the talker (Homo-Luquax).

However, without language man would be remained naive. It was language due to which human accumulated knowledge and made it achievable to pass it for future generations.

Beside this, Language helped human in expressing religion, codifying laws and building ethical ideas. Lastly, Language not only gave birth to human beings but also its civilizations.

"BEING A MINORITY IS A FATE NO ONE WANTS. CAN NATIONALISM BE INCLUSIVE?"

Outline

- I. Introduction
- II. Nationalism's Blindspot: The Minority Experience
- III. Nationalism can be a powerful source for unity and inclusivity:
  - (a). Nationalism can help in recognizing and valuing diverse culture and tradition within a nation
    - Case in point: Canada's official policy of multiculturalism
  - (b). Nationalism is a tool for ensuring equal rights and opportunities of citizens
  - (c). Increasing equal ~~rights~~ representation in decision-making under the banner of nationalism.
  - (d). Nationalism can help in promoting culture exchange programmes and culture knowledge
  - (e). By the help of nationalism countries can protect minorities and interests through legal and policy framework.
  - (f). Nationalist countries ensure a sense of national belonging that is inclusive to all

(g). Participation of diverse groups in national rallies encourages inclusivity in a country.

(h). Nationalism can unite people on common goals

• Economic challenges, Social justice and political rights.

(i). Constitutionalism patriotism under the flag of nationalism produce inclusivity.

(j). Nationalism focuses on shared citizenship and value over ethnic or religion

IV. Conclusion.