

Urban green spaces gives a sense of tranquility and relaxation in a noisy environment of cities. The vibrant parks are not only the spots of relaxation, it also preserve wildlife. Along with its beauty, city parks are also spots for familial gatherings, sports and seeking peace amidst nature. It also serves as venues for cultural events, concerts and art exhibitions in the open-air. Green spaces also improve air quality, reduce the heating effect and gives a healthy environment that promotes a good mental health. However, it is necessary to preserve such spaces in the increasing urbanization. Sustainable urban plannings are very necessary to preserve these natural heavens. Maintaining parks, green-line avenues and green-rooftops are very important while shaping new cities. With the evaluation of the cities, preservation and enhancement of green spaces are imperative.
