(iv) State should provide equal opportunities in both public and private sector

(10) Conclusion.

Prominent Political thinker Bacha Khan says, "One man And woman are same wheels of car no tanga, If one stops other cannot

Women are more than men in Pakistan both men and women have equal population. Historically, women are deprived from their basic fundamental rights. There we have evidences in first Constituent assembly, there were two women - Shaista and Jahanara Shahrukh - both were representative of 50% population. Similarly, religious clerics were not ready to sit with them in assembly.

There were two women

"Women have still deprived from their basic and fundamental rights, certain challenges make hurdles to get their rights, meanwhile government has taken less effective measures to tackle these issues." Furthermore, the government and other institution (political, social, economic) may find out the solution, they adopt and make certain pragmatic laws and actions

Historically, women's faced hurdles and challenges in Pakistan. During Colonial era, women's equally participated in liberation movement. While press condemned and termed "shameless women." After partition, they were denied from their political rights — mainly due to given them 2 months in National Assembly. Due to gender discrimination, Religious minorities could not sit in Assembly. Furthermore, they were given only 3% quota seats in assembly. All Pakistan Women Association (APWA) was formed for women encouragement but it was working under their rules and regulation of patriarchal government. Undoubtedly, women were more suppressed in Zia. Zia who seized power illegal. To get legitimacy and popularity among people, he orchestrated and adopted policy of Islamization. This policy suffered women because there were: Hudood ordinances, Zina ordinance and family law ordinance. Women recorded massive agitations against Zia regime. Moreover, during 70s, women were more suppressed from their rights due to conservative policies.

Despite of historical atrocities, Women are still depriving from their basic rights. They have no access to cultural activities, sports participation, technological and tourism participation. According to Pakhtunkhwa cultural department, previous year, a Jirgah was held by locals where they decided to ban on vacationing during eid.
Additionally, women of rural areas are more suffered than that of cities in Pakistan.

Additionally to this, women have no availability to suitable health. According to International Agency for Research on Cancer (IARC), 9000 new cases diagnosed each year and 4000 deaths per year.
Furthermore, according to World Health Organisation, Pakistan is having the lowest life expectancy rate in Asia in terms of women. Additionally, health issues are far drastic impacts over women life.

Moreover, women have no access to reproductive rights.

According to World Health Organisation, 830 women die a day in child birth. Recent data from United Nation Population Fund (UNFPA)

Less than 1 woman in 3 has taken decision her reproductive and sexual health, in every 50 minute woman died in pregnancy complication.

Instead of health, women have no access to quality education. Recent data from Pakistan Education Statistic, 12 millions girls are out of schools. Gender disparities exist in our schools, colleges and universities. Additionally,

There are some hurdles that keep away girls from education lot such as early marriage, puberty, safety and distance from educational institutions. In rural areas, girls are limited to home by the name of honour, culture and tradition.

Moreover, women deprived from their political rights such as freedom of expression, freedom of thought and participation in political activities. Undoubtedly, in the first Constitution 3% reserved seats were given to women while they were demanding 10% reserved seats. Additionally, it's noted some of their political rights but patriarchal and misogynist of the society deprives many from their right. Furthermore, Political Parties do not allot enough/adequate Seats for Provincial and national assemblies. adding to this, women have unequal representation in Assemblies. only 33% reserved Seats were allotted to them. it is impossible that 33% reserved women will bring their political rights. According to Constitution of Pakistan, in election, 10% women should polled/ cast vote in her respective constituency, otherwise election shall be declared "Null or Void". it is mandatory that has to increase from 10 to 33%. Additionally, in the 2013 election, the election was reconducted due to less participation of women.

Moreover, women have unequal representation and gender discrimination in Judicial department. Recent data from Law and Justice Commission of Pakistan, 126 total judges in upper tier only 7 are women, 12 Supreme Court Judges two are women. Women have only 17% representation in Judiciary. Fatima Naso Khokar, Senior Judge was not appointed as a Judge in Lahore High Court despite of her seniority. it was just about gender discrimination.

Plz do not include such examples

Furthermore, the ~~lived~~ society kept away them from their right to case. According to United Nation recent survey, 137 women killed by her partner and former husband in a year because of judicial affairs. Meanwhile in rural areas women are unaware of their judicial rights thus they are facing forced marriages and child marriages.

Besides all judicial disparities, women are denied franchise from their economic rights. They have less participation in labour force; they also have less business. According to State Bank of Pakistan, women have 2% representation in Pakistan's Economic system and contributing 1% of the total GDP. However, state didn't any strategic or pragmatic step to encourage women in the field of business. Additionally, home industries suffer day by day due to state inattention.

Also, women have less representation in economic sector, meanwhile issues of unequal pay. As per recent data of State Bank of Pakistan, women received only 22% of labour force which is two times less than that of men. Furthermore, they are facing verbal abuse in multiple economic zones.

However, there are many challenges, hurdles and obstacles faced by women such as ~~gender based violence~~. Patriarchal structure, retrogressive norms and outdated values, honour killing and harassment at work place. Women rape in vicious circle of domestic violence and cultural practices. According to Rubina Saif's research article on feminism, Right wing religious political parties in 1953, termed normless women such as "prostitutes" for those women who were demanding for their fundamental rights.

In addition to this, gender base and domestic violence are more common practice in our society. Mostly, they are victims of verbal and physical abuse. Recent Research by Demographic and Health, 80% married women endure domestic violence. According to UNFPA domestic violence is common in Pakistan in term of physical abuse, ~~showing~~ is most prevalent 76%, Slapping at 52%, Pushing 47% and 40% Kicking.

Furthermore, patriarchal structure of society makes more hurdles for women. After position religious clerics and local dominant leaders shaped the society, where power and function goes to men and subordinated women. They are ~~not~~ always consider "2nd gender".

According to UNDP report, 83.5% wives move away from their husband. In rural areas, majority of women decisions take by patriarch of the family such as elder brothers, husband and father.

Instead of patriarchal structure, honor killing is the most prevalent and hard hurdle for women according to the media monitor of the Human Right Commission in Pakistan in the year ~~Are being~~ June, 145 women were ~~honor~~ mostly incidents of honor killing are being reported in Ghorkhura, former FATA and Cujranwala.

(ii)

Similarly, retrogressive and outdated norms and values of culture contributing hurdles to women. There are some norms and rules such as women should not participate in sports activities, tourism activities, 'hijab' and 'no excess'. These practices and rules are often exercised in rural areas to compare to cities. In rural areas, women not able to take decision of her marriage and divorce. They compelled to endure persecution for the cause to unite families.

Besides these challenges,

State has taken some important steps to handle these issues and bring women into mainstream of both public and private sector. However, these steps and programs are not much effective. Both national and provincial government should make pragmatic and meaningful laws to tackle these burning issues.

In addition to this, in 1973 Constitution, Bhutto's government has given some rights such as every citizen is equal before law, no discrimination on gender, no discrimination on sex, no discrimination religion and state will protect woman marriages family and childrens. The women are very effective women can change in society. Some one try to stop them from their rights.

instead of 1973 constitution, Muslim Family Law Ordinance of 1961, which gave women a few rights with regard to marriage, the custody of children, divorce and registration of marriages and divorces. It was first

Pragmatic legislation by the Government, where dominated Hindu social interest and rights.

Restraints

Additionally, this act removed child marriage. Contrary to this religious clerics protested against this act while demanding to review the Muslim family law ordinance.

Despite of this, Singh Government has made a law in 2017, named Act on Child Marriage, 18 or above entitled to marry while prohibited Under 18 marriages. This act

(n) became ~~girl~~ in "Dua Zehra" case.

A 16 year old girl was forced for marriage either father challenged that marriage in court, while court decided in favour of Dua Zehra's father, according to this act.

instead of these burning issues, state and society have to play a role to counter and alleviate these issues.
~~it's mandatory on state to~~ make such legislation to break Patriarchal structure of society and provide equal opportunities for men and women in political, social and economic sector. Furthermore, society ~~plays~~ ~~also plays~~ role to make social institution to bring awareness regarding sex and gender equality.

Moreover, state has to encourage social institution and educational institution, and abolish women disparities in syllabi.
Encourage women toward higher education to address their grievances in higher platform. Additionally, state should encourage social institution such as NGOs and local organisation

W

to bring awareness among women education. Government must prioritize women education.

Through this act state can bring women's social rights.

Entrepreneurship, governmental institution (parliament) and non-governmental institution (political parties) should prioritize women's political rights. Government must increased their reserved seat from 33% to 50%. While political institution should give them high position and bring political awareness in women.

Additionally, political institutions should make women's issues part of their ideology.

Besides, this government should provide women's equal opportunities in both public and private sector. It must ensure basic pay, must encourage for labour force. Homes industries must innovate and encourage their owners. The government must expand employment opportunities for women. They should provide transport and hostels.

in short historically education's women have (15)

Kept away from their Social, Political, Judicial, and Economic rights. The obstacles have made by both Government and prominent persons in the society. Yet, Government has not taken any serious and pragmatic measures to resolve women issues. It can mitigate if Government provided them equal opportunities in every sphere and department of state.
