

The Extremism in Pakistan has posed a significant threat to the national security. The reason is that the influence of uleegy and their hate-speeches regarding different sects. Notably, the society of Pakistan is a traditional society having more inclination towards Madrasas' education.

Furthermore, this mainstream education is more in practice in tribal areas where majority can not afford to admit their children in schools because of poor social indicators. The young minds are trained under the influence of extremist uleegy. They shape their personality as a religious extremist by ~~not~~ infiltrating hateful narratives in their minds.

From many of past incidents of extremism in Pakistan, it is quite vivid that most of the extremists and suicide bombers got trainings in Madrasas under the influence of uleegy (P.N. Mahadeo, "Pakistan: Extremism Madrasas and the Military").

In conclusion, extremism is hampering the national security because of extremist uleegy and their hateful speeches.
