Translation :

The British Colonial rulers had a policy of flattering and deceiving Indians, which they had adopted in the past. Sir Syed Ahmed Khan and the other leaders had realized this and tried to make the Indians aware of it. The incident of the 1857 Agra Durbar was not only a lesson for Muslims but for the entire Indian nation. Sir Syed Ahmed Khan had boycotted the Durbar because Indians were given lower seats than the British, which was an insult. He was supposed to be awarded a medal at the Durbar, but later, Commissioner William was tasked with presenting the medal to Sir Syed Ahmed Khan at the Agra railway station.
