

General Election in the 'big five' in 2024

More
over held General Election in 2024, The five these Countries big population. These are in the alphabetical in Order is : Bangladesh, India, Indonesia, Pakistan and United States. Together these Countries population More than two(2) billion with above half of them is eligible for the vote cast. The likely votes have received an important message. They will be votes in democratic system in our Countries. The election for choosing the next America President will be November and one of the likely Candidate is Donald Trump who is already served in the white house as president from 2017 to 2021. He has lost the president seat and selected after Joe Biden. But He did not accept the defeat, and he calling in election will be rigged by calling the state is "deep state" in the favour of Joe Biden.

He said. State will not worked in for the nation, it worked for own interest.

Bangladesh was the first big five countries according to population, He goes to polls of election. The election to be Jatiya Sangad, the Assembly of Bangladesh. The election was won by the incumbent Sheikh Hasina, the most of the leaders were imprisoned. There was total consensus about last prime minister has dictory democracy in the country, and he implement the authoritarian rule. Her party won ~~200~~ 223 seats while independent candidates were Awami League members.

The second big five country was held the election in February 8 but the full result were not declare by election Commission of Pakistan, the ECP. The word was washing the expression and deep concern. I will quote to observation Pakistan and western world British News
