

Women University as an agent of change

1 Introduction

Hook

General Statement

Thesis statement

2

How women University <sup>acts</sup> as an agent of change for whole world

3

Role of women's University education in development and prosperity of a country

3(a)

Educated women can help in improving of a society through different ways

3(b)

Women's university education provide skill which leading to economic prosperity of a country.

3(c)

population control ~~str~~ could be possible by educated mothers ✓

3(d)

~~Hygiene~~ and Health system have improved in many countries due to women education

3(e)

Good governance ~~system~~ require women participation in politics ~~as~~ ~~men do.~~

3

Are women's University is necessary for women's education in university

4

Hurdles in way of women's University education

4(a)

patriarchal society is a big hindrance in women's university education ✓

4(b)

Lack of facilities also impede women to achieve university education ✓

4(c)

Early marriage of girls still happens in many part of world

4(d)

poverty also leads to stop girl's education in universities

(5)

Way forward for creating more opportunities for womens to achieve University education

5(a)

Financial aid can help womens to gain university education

5(b)

Creating supportive environment is university campus

5(c)

Addressing stereotypes and patriarchal society could help women to acquire university education

5(d)

Awareness among women about thier rights can increase women's ratio in university.

(6) Conclusion

The Essay

A famous quote by Napoleon Bonaparte is that "Give me a educated mother, I will give you nation." This quote highlights that a educated women can change a society. Women University education is vital for development in society, and it also plays a key role in prosperity of country. Furthermore, a an educated mother can change whole family. Resultantly, society moral values can be improve. In addition to this, population control is possible by creating awareness among women. Moreover, educated women have achieved skills, knowledge and thoughtful mind which creating opportunities for exploitation of resources.

create

Resultantly, a country has progress in all sectors economically. Despite of this, women face a lot of hurdles for University education. Firstly, societal norms and culture create hindrance in way of women university education. Secondly, poor economic condition stop women to gain higher education. Moreover, early marriage of girls still happens which is also a big factor of low literacy rate of women. However, taking few crucial steps can improve women ration in university. Scholarships, ~~or~~ mentorship programs safe and inclusive campuses and addressing stereotypes are few important steps to improve women university education. In short, Women university education can change the landscape of whole world. But there are few hurdles in way of women education in university which can be improved through some crucial steps.

Women universities are agent of change for whole ~~country~~ world. Universities are places for learning knowledge and skills. And achieving skill can make a person to utilize his potention. In this way, womens get opportunities for using thier potential in various field of life. An educated women <sup>can</sup> could better train his children and make them good citizen. Resultantly, a better society develop due to high morals values of citizens. Further, women can play role a crucial role in economic prosperity of country. Womens achieve skill from universities which they use during job and development of country. Moreover, women role on politics could create good governance system. Women can introduce new ideas and models for improvement of governance system. Therefore, women are <sup>universities</sup> an agent of change for whole world.

Educated women have ability to bring improvement in a society. A good society has best norms, culture and high moral values. In addition to this, a society is a complex group of people who interact with each other. A educated mother trains her childrens in a good way which have high moral values and have awareness about their responsibilities.

Dr. T. Berry Brazelton, an influential thinker said that "The education of mothers is most powerful factor in determining the future of a society".

This quote highlights that educated mothers have ability to change a society. Moreover, women's education help in reducing crime rate in a society. Crime rate can reduce due to high moral values and education. Educated mother creates high moral values in her children and keep focus on their children's education. As mentioned in UNESCO, "education and crime" report women's education has significant on reducing crime rates, with a 25% decrease for every additional year of education. Therefore, women university education can change the landscape of a society in different ways.

Women's university education make them able to work for economic prosperity of country. Economic prosperity can be achieved through skilled workers, thoughtful mind and diversities of ideas. University learn skill about different field for utilizing talent. In this way, women can also obtain skill and perform their roles in job centers. For instance, a Pakistani woman, Jehan Ara, president of Pasha performed and promote technology industry. Furthermore, women bring diversity in business due to new ideas. This promote entrepreneurship which create innovation and economic growth. As women's economic empowerment increase equality and economic diversification and is estimated to give global economy $7 trillion. This fact prove that educated women help in improving economy of country.

Women education contribute in controlling growth of population. Growth rate of population increase due to less awareness among people about its consequences. Education could perform a key role in spreading information about consequences of high population rate.

Educated family ~~have~~ has proper guidance about family planning. Women is <sup>more</sup> conscious to control the size and spacing of families than man.

South Korea's population growth rate has slowed significantly from 2.3% in 1960 to 0.1% in 2024 due high literacy rate 97%.

On the other hand, uneducated women has not informed about consequence of increasing population.

Early marriage often lead to have more children, due to reduce education and economic opportunities for girl. As an example, Abomen who marry early in Nigeria have on average 4.5 children, compared to 2.5 children for those who marry late. Because 35% of girls who marriage early complete secondary education.

In short, women university education help in reducing the size of population.

Hygiene and health care system has improved by educated women. Adopting hygiene prevention <sup>reduces</sup> risk of disease. Moreover, good health require awareness about proper health care system. Educated women have ability to understand and implement health care practices. Specially educated mothers are more conscious about health of thier children. In addition to this, they promote sanitation, nutrition and preventive care. A recent case study in Ethopia provides evidence of positive impact of women's education on healthcare and hygiene. The study highlights that increased educational attainment among women lead to better health outcomes for both mothers and children. For instance where women's literacy rates are higher, there is significant reduction in maternal and neonatal mortality. In short women's education is cornerstone for advancing health care and hygiene system.

Women participation in politics can produce a better governance system in a country. Diversities of ideas, skills and experiences contribute to decision making. Women participation in politics have diverse perspective which lead to sustainable solution and effective decision. One compelling case study is from Rwanda, a nation often cited as beacon for gender equality in politics. As of 2024, according to global gender report, women occupy 61% of seats in Rwanda's parliament, the highest portion worldwide. Moreover, women need high education for forming thier role in different field like in politics. Women in politics can adress better social issues, gender base violence, promoting education and health as compare to men. A 2024 report by World Economic Forum highlights that countries with high female political participation tend to have more comprehensive social policies, promoting education health and welfare. There women education is necessary to utilize their potential in various fields.

Patriarchal society is a significant hurdle to women's university education by perpetuating biases and restricting women's opportunities. Firstly, in patriarchal society, the gender role of women consider domestic work and take care of family.

Avoid spelling mistakes

Work on grammar (foundation)