

CPEC and Pakistan's economy

The miserable state of Pakistan's economy will immensely get relieved with the reinvigoration of CPEC project. At present, the country's economy is riddled with a multitude of plenty of problems. It is battling the unprecedented inflation rate that stands at above 25 percent. Similarly, there is tremendous stress on the currency due to higher outflows than inflows, leading to meteorically depreciating currency. Moreover, the FDI has almost dried up in the country, causing depletion of the foreign exchange reserves. Amidst all these ailments, resumption of work on the CPEC project is being seen as an exilix. It will bring investment to the country along with development of energy infrastructure. Besides, the project will boost the country's trade. Therefore, restart of work on CPEC will heal Pakistan's economic afflictions.

Use accurate prepositions

Religious fanaticism

Pakistan has suffered immensely due to ~~self~~ and ~~transgressions~~ of religious elements. It has now become a practice ~~of routine~~ to shed blood on the lines of religious and ~~sects~~ <sup>sectoral</sup> intolerance. Every other day, an incident inspired by religious ~~hated~~ or sectarianism comes to the fore. This menace has severely afflicted the social fabric of the country, also impacting the economy adversely. ~~People~~ <sup>from</sup> ~~having~~ different religions and sects are driven by their fanaticism and are often seen as dagger drawn with each other. The reigns of Akbar and Alauddin Khilji were also afflicted with this ailment. They found it wise to neutralize this threat by punishing the wrongdoers severely and keeping the religion and the State at distance from each other, with none of them intruding in each other's domain. Thus, the solution of Pakistan's ailment also lies in ~~keeping~~ <sup>keeping</sup> ~~from~~ <sup>eyes</sup> ~~from~~ these