

Title:

The Fall of Civilizations in the hands of hawtish people

dpnt explain just write a simple point

Precis:

The historical study of the causes of the breakdown of civilizations makes the warfare sole reason for the demise of early civilizations.

At the initial stage of a civilization, wars caused more damages than benefits.

Both the victors and conquered were immune to devastation. In the current time of technology, the war monger states have got full control over their people by having a strong military. As a result, these people have to become all ears to them.

~~In that time, in rare cases, the states used to stop firing up of wars~~ to protect their civilizations. However, they used two alternative methods for that; individual efforts and state efforts.

last sentence is incoherent

you must write 150 words 110 is not acceptable
main idea is picked but the content is incoherent
need improvement
not satisfactory
title is too long 4/20

Total Words: 470

Targeted Words: 156

Attempted Words: 110