

General Election in the 'big five' in 2024

More
 over held General Election in 2024, The five these Countries are in the alphabetical order is : Bangladesh, India, Indonesia, Pakistan and United States. Together these Countries population is more than two (2) billion with about half of them is likely to vote. The likely votes have received an important message. They will be in a democratic system in our countries. The election for choosing the next America President will be November and one of the likely candidates is Donald Trump who is already served in the white house as president from 2017 to 2021. He has lost the president seat and selected after Joe Biden. But he did not accept the defeat, and he calling in election will be rigged by calling the state is "deep state" in the favour of Joe Biden.
