As general elections in India are around the corner, the BJP is leaving no stone unturned to win these elections. It ~~now~~ includes many steps such as building of Ram Temple on the ruins of Babri Masjid, and his address in Indian held Jammu Kashmir.

Following these steps, now India is trying its best to implement a controversial citizenship act. This citizenship Amendment Act was passed in 2019, but due to immense situation at that time, it was hindered to implement. This act grants Indian citizenship to Hindus, Parsis, Sikhs and Christians who fled to India from Pakistan, Bangladesh and Afghanistan. Muslims, Rohingyas and Tibetans are not included in this list.

Modi is trying to increase the ratio of its voters and also trying to sideline the muslim voters. Modi knows clearly that he has lost the grounds of win in India; therefore he is trying these kind of tactics. Now, it is imperative to see how fruitful these tactics are in upcoming general elections for him.

The protests both in Balochistan and Chaman have been ongoing since last five months after imposing visa and passport requirements to cross the border. After imposing these requirements, the populace has been facing economic and humanitarian challenges on both sides. Pakistan imposed these conditions by considering the security challenges. Although, the ease in providing visa has been proposed but this is hindering the daily wagers to earn their economies.

Here point of concerns are both the security issues and the populace. Although, the security issues are prior but the top problems of people also should be considered. On one side it is beneficial to curb the smuggling in this notorious area but on the other side it is also affecting the common people. Stakeholders should sit together to bring a balanced approach. The solutions must curtail the security issues and also provide free trade routes to the common people.
