write a precise of the following passage and suggest a suitable title. I think modern educational ———. For affection and tact.

Effects of modern education on children

The author objects the modern educators who is not interacting with children. They are not building natural relation and enjoying with them. If one develops their relation with children like one develops with their pets. Children will be accepting their instructions and obey their rules. But this relation is not based on any affection. If one shows affection with them due to some personal benefits. So they are not appreciating this behaviour. Shows love with them without any ulterior reason. But the over-burden teachers are not able to developing natural relation with students. The author observe that stick rules are causing self-justification. So educators should not exceed to spend more than two hours with them. Rules are unnecessary. If children will have been enjoying their company they must obey them.
