Social media - with core function of connectivity, it has expanded to of dissemination of information - dispersal information rapidly with no fortification against misinformation. Creates a daunting challenge. Fake news, rumors and narratives that are maliciously designed to cause pain to targeted ethnic groups are peddled. In addition, sometimes unintended messages since open for hundreds of interpretations cause a fuss invite anger and fierce reaction. Such intended-but insensitive to ethnic sensitivities - flares deep rooted conflicts. Keeping such rationale in view and question how negatively it will impact the peace in areas with relatively high ethnic tensions. The case of Ethiopia is in the point, where a minute discord spread over social media took hundreds of lives. Similarly, In India Muslims are accused of slaughtering and throwing organs of cow near Hindu's religiously important places, such news circulates on social and resultantly the Muslims minority bear the burnt of Hindu's aggression.
