→ The Education System of Pakistan is highly disappointing. There are several reasons to poor education system. For instance, Matriculation level, Boards (Federal, Lahore, Gujranwala and Rawalpindi), Lack of qualified staff and logical reasoning, technical and communication skills etc.

The day when students enter in the board classes. They join certain academies and are forced to follow the cramming pattern.

This is so generic for a Pakistani student to get four digit marks and admission in a Private or government university.

The board with which a student's school is affiliated e.g. FBISE, BSIE also affects on our education system.

The ground reality of the board system is that it does not analyse the logical reasons but a bookish language. Therefore, the students do not understand the clear meaning of the Education.

For them, the education is to get degrees, marks and medals.

But, when it comes to jobs everyone is being judged on the basis of their skills and aptitude.

To get hands on a particular job, a great many people come and go but only a few people with low grades and more skills could reach.

In conclusion, we as a nation should clear our concepts related to education. Education does not mean to get admission, marks and medals. Its object is to get knowledge. The knowledge that helps us to build our character and conduct. We should spread the awareness of reading books among the students and tell them whatever they learn it should be based on a critical thinking. Only then, we could be able to minimize the hurdles in our education system.
