Paragraph:

Income inequality poses a big challenge for a national economy in a globalized world. The gap between rich and poor become widened, political instability and economic inefficiency. Due to this, people are involved in many crimes like corruption etc. and consumer spending are also decreased. Income inequality become the reason of lower economic growth rate and higher level of poverty. For instance, in US 1% of census hold a disproportionate amount of wealth compared to rest of population. This has to lead a decrease in purchasing power, resulting in lower economic growth rate. Therefore, in a globalized world income inequality become a challenge for national economy.
