

⇒ The Social Contract (^{introduced} published in 1762)

⇒ "Cave men were better than modern-day men because they had absolute freedom"

Rousseau stated about absolute freedom of people, and rejected previous both philosopher's social contract. He stated that community surrenders their rights itself. Community itself become body politic. (means community run by itself) In Rousseau's contract, people will meet at one place and people will make laws according to their 'general will'. According to Rousseau, ^{every} individuals have particular will, and use that particular will for making common laws, which are in favour of whole community. Moreover, at the same time community will in passive form or in active form. In passive form, community become state means follow the laws or also known as subjects. ~~and~~ However, in ~~in~~ active form, community will make laws at that moment community become sovereign. ~~As~~ As per Rousseau's social contract, ^{people it is generally} perceived that,

"I obey the general will, general will is my will, if I obey my will it means I obey myself and I obey myself it means I am free."