

Passage (1)

We should face facts as they exist. We are multilingual it is true, and a very poor country too. The fear of getting employment or not getting employment springs, out of that poverty. But once we took courage in every one of ours. Both our hands and began to work, poverty would vanish, and then those languages which have created a narrow regional spirit instead of being the curse that they seem to us today, would function as magnificent vehicles of expression for the rich variety of cultural patterns and modes of living and thought that we have developed. Let us hope that day dawns very soon. A regional language as the medium of instruction can facilitate the process of It helps the child to learn with ease and education. But if it is thrust on an unwilling minority used interest, to another allied language it can vitiate the very process of education. Education and Regional language

Becoming a developed country by demolishing poverty would make regional language rich, functional, and a mode of life despite becoming a hurdle. Regional language is a convenient source to facilitate the educational system. Students can learn with interest and focus, however, an accomplished language to the unwilling folks would spoil the educational process as well as generate difficulty in a socio-political nature. {60}
