

PRECIS CSS 2011:

title is written at the top not the end

almost half the precis
in a single sentence?????

The psychological causes of unhappiness may be numerous but an unhappy man may be the one who is deprived in youth of some satisfaction - that which he values the most. He, then develops ways to achieve that satisfaction. If he fails to achieve this satisfaction, he then rely on ~~pleasures~~ ^{no clear sense of this sentence} to satisfy himself.

He should understand that happiness is desirable.

A few men will choose ~~unhappiness~~ ^{if} if they find a way to seek happiness.

ness. The man who enjoys being miserable is not miserable. ✓

TITLE: Seeking pleasures have no relation with happiness

PRECIS CSS 2010:

The most unflattering human nature is being envious. Envy is an obstacle to person's growth & excellence. It deprives a person of happiness. He does not admire what he has & feels jealous of what others have. If it was possible for him, he would have deprived others of their disadvantages. If one wish to be happy he should have to increase admiration & decrease envy. The cure to envy lies in selflessness & contentment, because envy is an obstacle to happiness.

TITLE:

Envy deteriorates contentment

PRECIS: CSS 2009:

Art has been assigned the duty of controlling our negative emotions. According to Plato, poetry eradicates negative feelings such as lust, anger, pain. Tolstoy compares art with infection. Wordsworth

this is sentence not a title

title is 3 4 words max

and there is no coherence in the precis there is no word count and there is no clear meaning of the content 0/20

read the basic rules of precis

again and

resubmit the rest

DATE: _____

DAY: _____

defines poetry as "Recollection of emotions", but great poetry does not rely on just "recollection of emotions, but depends more on emotion which are aroused by the poet in present circumstances. Shakespeare does not speculate about the nature of art.

TITLE: ~~Art~~ of ~~Art~~ Art moulds personality