

Mention full qs statement for proper evaluation. Without that these are just notes and cannot be awarded marks

DEVALUATION OF PAKISTANI RUPEE :

INTRODUCTION :

Pakistani rupee has been devaluating in comparison to US dollar in past few years. This trend is not new for Pakistan. There are several reasons for devaluating Pakistani rupee.

- 1 Inflation
- 2 Political Instability
- 3 Interest Rate
- 4 Debt Burden
- 5 Quantitative Easing
- 6 Lack of foreign investment

1 INFLATION :

One of the main reasons of devaluating Pakistani rupee is inflation. It is because that Pakistani rupee are not stable in the world. Pakistan is primarily import based country. Pakistan import <sup>products</sup> in US dollars and sold in Pakistani rupee which cost high.

Give the main heading first!

Do not use one word headings. They should be elaborate and self explanatory

2 POLITICAL INSTABILITY :

Political instability is another factor of devaluing Pakistani rupee. Uncertainty instability in country's political future can lead to a lack of confidence among foreign investors which can cause them to withdraw their funds and this can cause ~~decline~~ devaluation in Pakistani rupee.

3 INTEREST RATE :

Interest rate is another factor of devaluing Pakistani rupee. The interest rate of Pakistan and US are different when the interest rate in US increase the investor may choose to move their fund for better return. This can cause a decline in Pakistani rupee.

Add references/examples against your arguments

4 DEBT BURDEN :

Debt burden is another factor of devaluing Pakistani rupee. Pakistan has a huge debt which has to pay with interest along with principle amount. As the debt burden increases the demand

A 20 marks answer should have around 15 subheadings and be on 8-9 pages for Pakistani rupee become decreases. Investor's become concerned about the country's ability to repay the debt. This can lead to devalue Pakistani rupee.

DATE ___/___/___

5 QUANTITATIVE EASING :

when a country print more notes than its reserve than the country has to devalue in currency.

6 LACK OF FOREIGN INVESTMENT :

Lack of foreign investment is another factor of devaluing Pakistani rupee. Pakistan is depended on foreign investment. Lack of investment can lead to devalue Pakistani rupee.

CONCLUSION :

There are several factor that leads toward devaluing Pakistani rupee. some of them are inflation, political instability, debt burden etc. Pakistan government has to take some ~~press~~ steps to address these issues and prevent further devaluation of the currency.