Q. No. 1

(a) PMS Paragraph (201 Road to hell is paved with good intentions

Road to hell is also paved with good intentions. It is because of the dependence of deeds over the intentions. If a man has good intentions behind the doing of work, it justifies him regardless of the results. ALLAH says in Quran: "Deeds are dependent on intentions". Similarly, if a ruler opts a harsh policy for the public, it justifies the ruler for the benefit of the state. Although people of that state face problems after that policy, it provides long term benefits for the state. As Aristotle says: "End justifies the mean". Imposing of heavy taxes seems like a cruelty over the poor people but if it actually improves the economy, this can be justified. In a nutshell, despite all the miseries imposed by a man, he... can be justified with good intentions.

Subject: Allocation of funds for higher studies abroad.

Sir,

I beg to say that students are facing difficulties to go for higher studies in abroad. Some do not have sources to go abroad for studies. The parents of these students hardly managed their studies in Pakistan. They are unable to send their children to abroad for higher studies. Most of the students who face this problem belongs to middle class or lower middle class families. They even do not have access to institutes which provide expensive guidelines in this regard.

Higher Education Commission is the only institute which can provide the funds to these students to study abroad. The intelligent students need highly equipped labs and research facilities to brighten their hidden abilities. The labs of foreign universities can provide them with these facilities. If HEC provides funds to these students to study abroad, it will be a golden opportunity for these students.

It is requested that HEC provides funds to these deserving students so that they can sharpen their mental abilities in abroad. After that they will be able to serve the country from their sharpened abilities.

Yours sincerely,
X. Y. Z.
