

Democracy in Pakistan: Hopes and Hurdles

Thesis Statement:

The nature of democracy in Pakistan is seems to be volatile, ^{due to several reasons} However its future is bright.

Outline:

1. Introduction:

2. Reasons Behind the volatile past of democracy in Pakistan:

- 2.1) The delay in constitution making has played its role in weakening democracy.
- 2.2) Pakistan has long history of military rule which remains hurdle for democracy.
- 2.3) Feudalism did not allow democracy to flourish and grow in Pakistan.
- 2.4) Poor governance has left not stone unturned in hampering the base of democracy.
- 2.5) In Pakistan no rule of law has created a huge barrier for democratic system.

- 2.6) Economic instability remained a problem for democracy in Pakistan.
- 2.7) Democracy in Pakistan is badly affected by provincial disharmony.
- 2.8) The ~~sectarian~~^{sectarian} divide in Pakistan have become one of crucial issue for democratic system.
- 2.9) Foreign interference in country did not allow the democracy to grow up for years.
- 2.10) Illiterate masses and a continuous rise in illiterate rate has hampered the country's democracy.

3. Why hopes to its bright future?

- 3.1) Recent few months a smooth transition of the democratic governments has open the path for democracy in Pakistan.
- 3.2) Military has declared the nature not interfering in politics act that paved the way towards the successful democracy.
- 3.3) The emergence of new political parties in Pakistan is a very bright signal for democracy in Pakistan.

3.4) Media is showing a very positive role that is quite productive for democracy.

3.5) Rise in awareness among different masses in country is very helpful for the country's democracy.

3.6) Youth of Pakistan has shown a very energetic role in politics in the past few years which support the democracy.

3.7) Institutions in Pakistan are becoming a strong hold for the bright future of democracy.

3.8) Accountability procedure in Pakistan has been proved to be a shield of democracy.

3.9) Future of democracy seems secure due to economic stability in Pakistan.

3.10) Good governance ~~is~~ is becoming a pillar of democracy in Pakistan.

4. Conclusion: