

Terrorism

Terrorism poses significant challenges to the world. Terrorism is the use of violence, intimidation, and coercion. Political terrorism, Ideological terrorism, Religious terrorism, and State sponsored terrorism ^{are the major types of terrorism.} In Political terrorism terrorist's aim is to interfere in government policies and institutions creating fear among the population. They could destabilize the political system. Ideological terrorism based on the ideological agenda such as anarchism, communism, or nationalism. Their aim is to challenge existing social order. Religious terrorism is driven by religious extremists to social unrest and spread fear among the people of the state. They impose their religion on religious adversaries. Last but not the least is a state-sponsored terrorism which is conducted or supported by the state. There are multiple factors of terrorism such as poverty, political instability, inflation, and lack of trust in government. Last few decades Pakistan is facing terrorism by different terrorist organizations Al-Qaida, TTA, and TTP. Addressing terrorism is essential for preventing war and challenges.
