

Political Stability and development :-

(A) Introduction

(B) What is Political Stability.

(C) How Political Stability come in the country.

(a) one Law for all.

(b) Country interest first.

(c) Constitution Supreme.

(d) Check and balance.

(D) How Political Stability brings development.

(a) New Projects initiative.

(b) Economy will stable.

(c) Country will stable, like

New roads, laws made.

(d) All party leaders work together for development.

(E) Challenges for Political Stability.

(a) Foreign forces.

(b) High rate of military.

(c) Extremists.

(F) Way Forward.

(a) No other country involvement in the politics.

(b) Increase education budget.

(c) Council for all parties.

(d) Keep interest in country development.

(G) Conclusion.

"In Politics Stupidity is not a handicap." (Napoleon Bonaparte)

According to this quotation, it is very much clear that, the mistake in politics never bearable, because it affect the Country's development and prosperity. Politics is like a war without bloodshed and one can easily win, if a leader makes any mistake. There are so many ways through which Political Stability come in the Country, however mostly one law for all is in the front line. However if the politicians of the Country remember the Country interest first, then the Constitution will be supreme. If Constitution will be supreme, then check and balance come in the Country. If these things will be happened, then the initiative of new projects will be started, Economy of the Country will be stable and all supreme leaders will work together for the Country interest. But there are some foreign forces, high level of illiteracy and extremists who become challenge for the Political Stability in the Country. Moreover if one Country make a law that no one other Country will involve in the Country politics and also increase the education budget and every Politician must give it best for Country's development then the Country will be political stable and development will take place. Country's like Pakistan totally depend on political stability. If political stability is there, then the development will be secured and economy of the Country will be stable.