

Outlines

Is Pakistan Ready for Digital Revolution?

Outline:

1- Introduction

2- Digital Revolution Around the World and Pakistan's Position

3- How Pakistan is Ready for Digital Revolution

3a) Digitization of justice system to ensure speedy justice

(Introduction of e-courts, digital complaint portals etc.)

3b) Adoption of modern online education tools in educational institutions (Zoom, LMS, Google Meet etc.)

3c) Health sector is fastly adopting digital means

(E-portals to save patients health history to make inform decisions)

3d) Local banks are also going digital to offer internet banking services

(According to SBP, RS 862 billion of worth transactions were processed in 2019.)

3e) Local farmers are adopting digital means to find solutions to farming challenges

(Introduction of 'Digital Dera' at Chak 26-SP)

3f) Youth is becoming more aware of the power of digital media

(One of the top five countries in the world for providing freelancing services using digital means.)

3g) Government is also empowering youth by introducing crucial digital initiatives (e.g. Digital Pakistan)

3h) Most of the shopping is being carried out through digital media

(e.g. Daraz, Telemart, OLX etc.)

3i) Increasing number of local transport companies are coming to the market

(e.g. Bykea, InDrive, Yango etc.)

4- Why Pakistan is not ready for digital revolution

i- Increasing cybercrimes

ii- Periodic internet restrictions

iii- Ban on major social media apps

iv- Occasional electricity blackouts

5- How to ~~mini~~ minimize the hurdles stopping Pakistan for digital revolution

i- Control on cybercrimes

ii- Access to internet without restrictions

iii- Free social media

iv- Permanent solution to electricity blackouts

6- Conclusion