

▪ Sample 1

Democracy is the most difficult of all forms of government and yet it is one to which most nations now aspire. This is because it seems to most people to be the form of government which provides the best hope of making a world in which privileges, good fortune or the accidents of history will no longer determine the spheres of opportunity. In this, the human spirit will develop best. A successful democratic system requires a number of pre-conditions, most of them difficult in themselves to establish. It requires the active cooperation of the community for the common good. It requires institutions which can ensure that those who obey the law will not become the victims of those who do not. It requires a mutual respect and shared pride in the objectives and traditions of the community as a whole. It requires the absence of any form of discrimination based on race, sex, belief or opinion. It requires especially from those who have power and influence, restraint and patience.
