Q2. Write a precise of the following passage in about 120 words and suggest a suitable title: (20)

Australia are just too common. What I wanted was somewhere exciting and exotic, a place where I could be spared from the holiday tour crowds. I was so happy when John called up, suggesting a trip to Cherokee, a county in the state of Oklahoma. I agreed and went off with the preparation immediately.

We took a flight to Cherokee and visited a town called Qualla Boundary surrounded by magnificent mountain scenery, the town painted a paradise before us, With its Oconaluftee Indian Village reproducing tribal crafts and lifestyles of the 18th century and the outdoor historical pageant Unto These Hills playing six times weekly in the summer nights, Qualla Boundary tries to present a brief زبانہ image of the Cherokee past to the tourists.

Despite the language barrier, we managed to find our way to the souvenir shops with the help of the natives. Tepees, cone-shaped tents made from animal skin, were also pitched near the shops, "Welcome! Want to get anything?" We looked up and saw a middle-aged man smiling at us. We were very surprised by his fluent English. He introduced himself as George and we ended up chatting till lunch time when he invited us for lunch at a nearby coffee shop.

"Sometimes, I've to work from morning to sunset during the tour season, anyway, this is still better off than being a woodcutter...." Remembrance weighed heavy on George's mind and he went on to tell us that he used to cut firewood for a living but could hardly make ends meet. We learnt from him that the Cherokees do not depend solely on trade for survival. During the tour off-peak period, the tribe would have to try out other means for income. One of the successful ways is the "Bingo Weekend". On the Friday afternoons of the Bingo weekends, a large bingo hall was opened, attracting huge crowds of people to the various kinds of games like the Super Jackpot and the Warrior Game Special. According to George, these forms of entertainment fetch them great returns.

Our final stop in Qualla Boundary was at the museum where arts, ranging from the simple hand-woven oak baskets to wood and stone carvings of wolves, ravens and other symbols of Cherokee cosmology are displayed.

Back at home, I really missed the place and I would of course look forward to the next trip to another exotic place.

Answer:

I had desire to visit such a thrilling and exotic place.

John suggested me a tour at Cherokee. So, we took flight and reached Cherokee. First of all, we visited Cherokee's town, Qualla boundary. That town was giving brief history of Cherokee and 18th century.

We went to the souvenir shop.

The owner of shop, George, asked to want to get anything. He invited us for a lunch near wafee shop. During lunch, he told about his livelihood. I thought that people of Cherokee did not dependent on single trade to make ends meet. Further, he he told about importance of Bingo weekend. These kind of entertainment gave him high return.

At the end, we visited Qualla boundary museum. That was representing cosmology of Cherokee.

I missed the Cherokee, when I had reached at home. Next time, I would visit another exciting place.

PART - II

Write a précis of the following passage in about 120 words and also suggest a suitable title:

It is in the temperate countries of northern Europe that the beneficial effects of cold are most manifest. A cold climate seems to stimulate energy by acting as an obstacle. In the face of an insuperable obstacle our energies are numbed by despair, the total absence of obstacles, on the other hand leaves no room for the exercise and training of energy; but a struggle against difficulties that we have a fair hope of over-coming, calls into active operation all our powers. In like manner, while intense cold numbs human energies, and a hot climate affords little motive for exertion, moderate cold seems to have a bracing effect on the human race. In a moderately cold climate man is engaged in an arduous, but no hopeless struggles and with the inclemency of the weather. He has to build strong houses and procure thick clothes to keep himself warm. To supply fuel for his fires, he must hew down trees and dig coal out of the earth. In the open air, unless he moves quickly, he will suffer pain from the biting wind, finally, in order to replenish the expenditure of bodily tissue caused by his necessary exertions, he has to procure for himself plenty of nourishing food.

Quite different is the lot of man in the tropics. In the neighborhood of the equator there is little need of clothes or fire, and it is possible with perfect comfort and no danger to health, to pass the livelong day stretched out on the bare ground beneath the shade of a tree. A very little fruit or vegetable food is required to sustain life under such circumstances, and that little can be obtained without much exertion from the bounteous earth.

We may recognize must the same difference between ourselves at different season of the year, as there is between human nature in the tropic and in temperate climes. In hot weather we are generally languid and inclined to take life easily; but when the cold season comes, we find that we are more inclined to vigorous exertion of our minds and bodies.

Write a precise of following Passage in about 120 words and also suggest a suitable title.

Answer:

Title: Comparison between human nature.

Human being have different kind of nature. It looks like the four season in a year. Most of time, when a man is facing an obstacle, his energies and abilities slow down for certain time. But there is always a hope that stimulate a man to face the challenge bravely. In the same way, Every human have different view of life. They have different behaviour in different areas of life. The people who are living in colder region have different challenges as compared to those which are living in the tropic areas. They face different problems like food, fuel for fire, strong houses and health. Like that, human nature behave differently in different situation.
