

Dialogue Practice

Example:1

"The play may begin at any moment," I said.

"It may have begun already," Susan answered

I hurried to the ticket-office. "May I have two tickets please?" I asked.

"I'm sorry, we've sold out," the girl said.

"What a pity!" Susan exclaimed.

Just then, a man hurried to the ticket-office. "Can I return these two tickets?" he asked.

"Certainly," the girl said.

I went back to the ticket-office at once. "Could I have those two tickets please?" I asked.

"Certainly," the girl said, "but they are for next Wednesday's performance. Do you still want them?"

"I might as well have them," I said sadly.

Answer 1:

I told Susan that the play might begin at any moment.

Susan replied that it might have begun already.

I rushed to the ticket office and asked the ticket girl politely that if I might have two tickets.

The ticket girl apologized for not having any tickets left with her.

Susan expressed her disappointment after hearing this.

After that a man rushed to the ticket office and asked if he could return those two tickets he had bought.

The ticket girl said sure why not.

I immediately approached the ticket girl and politely asked her whether I could have those two tickets.

The ticket girl agreed and informed me that those tickets are for Wednesday's performance and then asked if I am still interested in buying.

I replied sadly that I might as well have them.