

People have become overly dependent on technology

1- Introduction

People either exhibit excessive reliance on technology or do not show ~~increased~~ dependence on it. Due to excessive use of technology in all spheres of life, people have become overly dependent on it. Its excessive use mainly stems from the advantages offered by technology.

2- Have people become excessively reliant on technology or not?

3- How people have become overly dependent on technology (thesis)

a- Prevalence of social media addiction

b- Culture of Online shopping habit

c- Popularity of online education in students

d- Increased reliance on virtual meetings and communications

e- Excessive use of technology in household chores

4. How people have not become overly dependent on technology (anti-thesis)

- a- Existence of significant number of non-users of social media
- b- Physical shopping is still thriving due to its benefits of social interaction and immediate gratification
- c- Dissatisfaction of students with online learning <sup>due</sup> to lack of direct interactions with teachers
- d- Concerns over data privacy and security discourage individuals and businesses from relying solely on virtual platforms
- e- People, who can not afford technology for household chores, are still living their lives beautifully

5. People have become overly dependent on technology due to advantages offered by technology

- a- Number of social media addicts is more dominating than that of non-users of social media due to myriad of entertainment options offered by social media

- b- People are more inclining towards online shopping than physical shopping due to convenience that it offers
- c- Growing popularity of digital literacy as a broader pedagogical approach due to enhanced accessibility in remote is suppressing advantages of traditional physical classrooms.
- d- Online communication being significantly cheaper than physical communication is increasing reliance of people on virtual platforms for communication
- e- Robot servants are coming within a decade, showing overly dependence of people on technology for household chores

Make precise phrases in the outline

6- Conclusion