

Implications of corruption for Pakistan

Outline

1. Introduction

(a) Attention

(b) General statements

(c) Thesis statement: There are many implications of corruption for Pakistan such as it disrupts the political, economic and social fabric of the country. Therefore, a campaign based on practical steps is needed to eradicate this evil.

2. Corruption and its current state in Pakistan

3. Implications of corruption for Pakistan

(a) Political implications of corruption

(i) Rising election rigging

(ii) Brings political instability

(iii) Damaging administrative fibre

(ii) Seeping of funds into the pockets of authoritarians

(b) Economic implications of corruption

(i) Unequal distribution of funds

(ii) Increasing foreign debt

(iii) Increasing inflation rate

(iv) Fosters economic stagnation

(c) Social Implications of corruption

(i) Fosters crime and immorality

(ii) Breeding social inequalities

(iii) Affecting the living standards of people

(iv) Tarnishing the country's image in global society

4. Suggestions to tackle the evil of corruption in Pakistan

(a) By ensuring accountability

(b) By strengthening law and order

Add few more arguments for way forward

5. Conclusion