

Crisis to Crisis

Pakistan is facing many challenges since inception. One major problem now is that people are losing humanity, which makes life harder for the poor. Also, society's morals are falling apart, and people are not treating ~~fairly~~ <sup>each other</sup> fairly anymore. In 21st century, the richer is getting richer while the poor is suffering from the pains. Similarly, many children are not going <sup>to</sup> school due to abject poverty. These children ~~are to~~ go ~~to~~ for working instead of studying owing to extreme hunger. Therefore, it is necessary for government to give education and healthcare to everyone. Unfortunately, the government ~~remains~~ remains in the hands of particular faction. And they use divide-and-rule tactics to stay in power. Many government officials are corrupt and get rich from their job. These people are controlling everything and they know how to remain in power by playing with the <sup>emotions</sup> emotion of people. Despite all the problems, many people are giving donations; According to Dawn newspaper, people are giving 240 billion per year in the form of donation in order to help poor people. But relying on charity is not a good solution to run a country. Therefore, government should fix all the problems and work for growing economy of the Pakistan.
