

Original Passage Contents

The fear of human being when faced with the mysteries of life and their weakness by comparison with the vastness of nature created in them a need to communicate with the divine. With the supervisor powers which they believed regulated the universe and determined their own fates. Knowledge for wishes of the gods was always a sure guide for human behavior. In ancient Greece, the precise nature of these wishes was 'decoded' by the art of giving oracles, practiced by soothsayers who had the gift of understanding the sings or signals sent by the gods.

Men's fear and weakness with mysteries of life and Universe believed in super natural powers as regulators of universe and controller of his fate. This required knowledge to guide people of the gods through soothsayers who used to gift divinely signs and signals.
