Importance of greenery in Cities

In the Cities green spaces and parks play a key role for feeling relax. The greenery in Cities are a true example between urban development and environmental progress. The city parks play a crucial role for gathering people and existence of strong bonding between them. These greenery are also boost the environment growth and mental health. However the problems are maintain balance between increasing urbanization and environment. For this, to create and maintain parks are the integral part of shaping Cities When cities are evolve the parks are also part of this progress. This vision helps to retain equilibrium among humans and environmental progress.

Words in passage approxi = 280 words
Words in precis = 98 words