

40 min 07 sec

Why Nations Fail?

Outline

(I) Introduction

(II) Why nations fail?

A. Political reasons for nation's failure

(1) Corruption

(2) Inefficient policymaking

(3) Red tapism

(4) Nepotism

(5) Inherited politics / <sup>Tyranny</sup> (Dictatorship)*

B. Judicial hinderances

(1) Lack of accountability

(2) Democracy

(3) Lack of social justice

C. Lack of moral education

D. Administrative hurdles

(1) Bureaucratic hurdles

(a) Aloofness

E. Economic causes of nation's failure

(1) Increased fiscal deficit

(2) Job insecurity

F. Societal perspectives

(1) Inequality in society

(2). Mass illiteracy
G. External interference in state's affairs.

(iii) Conclusion

Nation is a group of people living <sup>collectively</sup> together on land with territorial restrictions/boundaries. Either nation is known as successful or failure. Nation fails due to several reasons, political issues and judicial hindrances are among the major reasons. Political issues like corruption and red-tapism are 'em' key factors for 'reasons' nation's failure. Society cannot be successful with these illness, i.e., corruption, lack of social justice, demeritocracy, aloofness in bureaucracy and increased fiscal deficit. Nation's failure does not depends on a single factor. There are several issues which guide the nation towards failure. All the issues 'roots' are interlinked with corruption. It is the reason which enhanced the issues in nation. However, there are several aspects as well which guided the nation towards failure. Mass illiteracy is one of the major issues "which" in which guide nation towards failure.

As nation is a group of people living together on a same territory, nation's failure and success also depends on several factors. (Nation's failure or) Nation fail due to political, judicial, economic failure due to several administrative hurdles and societal problems.