

Comprehension 2018

The author says that instead of making machines our servants, they have become our masters.

He means that the (men) human beings are overly dependent on machines for both work and leisure, and because of that ~~from~~ machines need to be taken care of. Majority of people's time go into looking after the machinery very carefully.

The use of machines has brought us more leisure and more energy.

The author considers it a curse rather than a blessing as the time saved is being used to create more machines for more tasks. Thus increasing the human dependency on machines even more.

3) Civilization means the ~~also~~ adoption of a civilized way of living by human beings. It involves freedom, justice, equality, exploration, discovery and innovation and giving life to its fullest. The author ~~view~~ considers the civilization in the same manner. Exploring universe, creating peace among the human race and eradicating poverty are also some facets of civilization.

4) "Making more beautiful things" means (creating newer products and finding different ways that ^{would} benefit humans. Following is a list of beautiful things that I would like to make: shelter homes for the homeless, provision of free medicine to everyone, exploring nature and travelling. All of these can be achieved by utilizing the free time and planning accordingly.

The poverty in the world can be eradicated by implementing global poverty eradication campaigns supported by the rich developed countries. All the governments in the world being a member of this campaign and actively participating by implementing local policies that benefit the most down-trodden people of the society. The policies and initiatives should directly pay attention to the homeless, and the job less and the lowest classes of the society.