

Precis

(CSS-2017)

title is written at the top

All the evils in this world are because of busy people. Their energies are misdirected. For instance, if in July 1914, the influential people refused to do their jobs then there would be a better situation.

incorrect interpretation

Moreover, if statesmen had refused to go to Versailles or their so-called peace conference, the worldly affairs would be better. In the present time, if half of the European politicians had decided to do nothing, the humanity would benefit from it. Finally, some religious sects hold conferences and discussed about petty things. They would recover their mental health if they were sent on vacations.

would have better

read this sentence carefully

"Laziness is a Blessing" word count is missing

title is written at the top not the end attend to pointed out mistakes need improvement

issues of coherence and clarity in the content

6/20