

Oracles Of Greek Soothsayers

The fear of humans, when they faced the uncertainties of life, created a need for humans to connect with the divine.

Human ^{behaviour} was guided by gods wishes. In ancient ^{Greeks} Greece, these wishes were decoded by soothsayers who had the ability of understanding the signals by gods. They uttered their oracles by interpreting different signs of nature.

However, there were some conditions in which gods spoke directly to an intermediate as ^hHe or ^sShe entered in a state and delivered the message of gods. Such practices were the base for the Greek oracles as each oracle was organized and connected with gods. ~~Apollon, Delphi, Dodona, and Zeus were soothsayers as they work interconnectedly with each other.~~
