Politics is the art of possible

"You can ignore the reality, but you cannot ignore the consequences of ignoring realities"

Politics is the reality. Without politics, there is not consequence of possibilities. A political, economic, military and social agenda fulfill through politics. Without politics, position in the international arena is not being possible. Global hegemony, power, domino effect and vested interest cannot accomplish without politics. Administrative authority is being given to politicians that is why it becomes the art of possibilities.

Within that, power is the main cornerstone of politics. Promotion of a specific ideology is not possible without politics. Electronic media plays a crucial role for the spread of politics. Other than that, populism play a crucial role the promotion of a specific campaign.

Citizens are not aware about their political rights. This tool is used by the politicians for their own possibilities. An investment in the education sector is the best tool for the success of a state. Politics is the essential component of politics for possibilities. Without power, nothing can be possible in the global and national arena. Power is important to control the world order. Control of territorial resources will be possible through power. For example, to attain the global hegemony was possible by the power of stopping use of power resources in terms of classical realism by John Mearsheimer.

In the Mitchell, power is the main crucial component to control the world.

A position in the international arena is only possible by politics. A state works together for their own purpose. Sincerity and honesty are not the reason of relationship. A competition in the politics control the global order. Just like as the US and China rivalry, US cannot want to destabilize their position in terms of politics, economic and military. According to a Pentagon report, China launched 093 GB missile to counter the <sup>Ch</sup> US. In the nutshell, without a strategic political <sup>x</sup><sub>possible</sub> position is impossible to stand in the global arena. Global hegemony is the main tool to control the region. A global hegemony with indirect power is an ideal framework for the powerful state. India increased its global hegemony to counter Pakistan in the South-Asia. According to a SIPRI 2024, India has a stockpile of nuclear arsenal of about 172. India increase 8 nuclear weapons as compare to previous years. In the end, politics and global hegemony are going hand by hand. Domino effect can be made only by politics. US and China compete with each other to make a domino-effect at global level. Both the country work hard to counter each other. CPEC <sup>(China and Pakistan Economic Corridor)</sup> is the main political component of China to makes domino-effect in the global order. Qatar has invested 3 billion order for the storage of food in CPEC region. In short, Politics makes a domino effect in the global order.

Despite of that, vested interests of a politicians possible through politics. Politicians uses populism tool in the election-campaign for the promotion of their own vested interests. A vested interests cannot be fulfilled without politics. After coming in power, a mirror of their vested interest appears. For example, a revoke of Article 37 (A) of the constitution of India stated that the acknowledgement of special territories of the Jammu and Kashmir. In the end, a politicians fulfill their own vested interest to stand in the order. Within that, promotion of a specific ideology will possible through politics. Ideology makes a state aura in the internal order. The ideology makes a political, social, economic and military system of a state. In some country, politicians promotes a specific religious ideology that makes a obstacles for the livelihood of a minorities. For examples, Hinduvta ideology promotes in India. This ideology causes the suppression of life of minorities such as muslims and Christians. According to a USCIRF, India is a "Concern country" in terms of religious. This perspectives makes a lifes of muslims just like a hell. In the nutshell, politics is the main tool for the promotion of a specific ideology. Despite of that, administrative authority gives only to Paliticians that makes obstades for the success of a state. A state has three components such as Executive, Legislation and Judiciary. These components are work together for the state. The members of a executive branch of a state selected by a election process. A power makes them greedy and dishonest. Rules and regulations cannot fulfill by him.

Accountability is the main component for check and balance. According to a United Nation, a good governance had these components such as participation, accountability, transparency and many more. In the end, accountability is the scale to check the administrative authority.

Electronic media play an important role for the promotion of politics in the 21st century. Disinformation and misinformation are easily spread through electronic media. People was enticed into a stream of mindless enticement of misinformation by a media. According to a <sup>book</sup> Amusing a Death by Neil Postman, a mind of the individual of a society was bombed by the sensationalism,

images, facts and figures.
News was a medium of information. In the past years
In the nutshell, electronic media easily divert the mind of an individual of a society.

Populism plays an important role in the politics.
A huge amount of
members enter into a cycle of campaign by populism. Slogans are being widely used to attract peoples. For Example, the Narendra Modi used word for muslim as a "foreign invaders"
to attract Hindu muslims.
They He taught that muslims childrens are the eaters of Hindu
culture, and civilization.

In the end, populism is the crucial element in the politics.

Other than that, promotion of a specific religious ideology is a tool of politics. Segregation of a people on the basis of religious differences makes a life difficult.

For example, a Hindutva ideology by Nareendra Modi causes the murder and rapes of a muslims minorities. This ideology triggers the Hindu extremism.

In the nutshell, religion is play key role in the politics.

Anti-groups campaign run such a way that a huge population enter into a chain of politics. People are divided into group, caste and creed with references to Pakistan. These intra-regional groups causes the threat to a state. For example, Pakhtunistan movement established by Pakhtoons people. They segregate themselves from others. This campaign are the main obstacle for the progress of a state. In the end, political agenda fulfill through anti-state campaign. Civil society is the main building block in the state. Civil society has limited authority. They work under the framework of elite tycoon. Pressure on civil society makes their life difficulties. For example, civil society members in a cycle of "Yes man culture". They do not do anything without the consent of ministers. The politics in the civil society structures makes failure of a state. Investment in the infrastructure by politicians cannot make a state progressfull. Human capital is crucial component for the success or failure of a state. According to a Human Capital Index, Pakistan has 0.41 score. The meaning is that, a newborn baby has 41% productivity in terms of education and health. A decline in human capital index requires comprehensive planning. In a nutshell, investment in human capital pay more than that in infrastructure.

Unawareness of citizen is the main building block of politics. When a citizen does not <sup>know</sup> <sup>about</sup> <sup>his</sup> basic right, politicians can easily manipulate them. Health, education and food are the birth right of an individual. In Pakistan, a citizen cannot aware about their rights. According to a World Bank, 20 millions childrens are out of school in Pakistan. The decline in education is the main reason for unawareness of a citizen. Other than that, citizen and state participation is the key role for the success or failure of a state. A government know about the problems of their citizen. Provision of basic necessities of a life is a state responsibility. According to a United Nation, citizen participation, accountability, equity and inclusiveness is the main component of a good governance. Despite of citizen participation, investment in education sector is the main element for the progress of a state. Education is very important to know about political, economic and social rights. According to a Quranic verse of Surah Taha

رب زدني علما

O Lord! Increase my knowledge stated that knowledge was important. In the nutshell, Education sector is the most important entities of a state.

Despite that, national security should be main building block of any politics. A state official can do anything but knowing that, this decision will not counter the national security of a state. According to a Barry Buzan, national security has two components, the threats of fear and the ability of a state and its society to maintain its identity and functional integrity. In the end, national security is the main part of any state,

In the conclusion, power politics is the main pathway for the accomplishment of vested interest of politicians. Global hegemony in the global arena is not possible without power politics. Electronic media and populism play an important role for the spread of power politics. Other than that, citizens are not being about their political and social rights. This unawareness becomes the pathway for the accomplishment of possibilities of politics.
