

How do Constitutional Changes affect the balance of power in democratic governments?

Well attempted

Keep practicing on different topics to bring further maturity in your writing/arguments

A. Introduction

Indeed constitutional changes affect the balance of power in various way in a democratic form of government ~~in many~~; by altering check and balance systems; ~~by~~ reshaping separation of power and by ~~amending~~ the rights of citizens.

B Debunking the concept of 'balance of power' and 'constitutional changes'

C Ways by which constitutional changes affect the balance of power by altering check and balance systems;
i - Strengthening Executive and Legislative check on Judicial powers:

a. 26th Amendment in the Constitution of Pakistan, 1973.

b. Use of constitutional amendments as a tool to usurpe excessive power of judiciary.

ii - Strengthening Check of Judiciary over Executive and Legislature

a. Establishment of "Judicial Review" after "Marbury v. Madison"

b. Interpretation of constitution to ensure balance of power and independence of judiciary.

iii - Strengthening Executive by shifting forms of governments via constitutional changes

a. Turkey's 2017 referendum

b. Changing from parliamentary to presidential system, reduce checks over president, thus empowering executive.

iv- Establishing a sovereign parliament thus empowering legislature:

a. Constitution of South Africa Post-Apartheid (1996)

b. Empowering parliamentary democracy via constitutional changes to ensure representation.

D Ways by which constitutional changes affect the balance of power by reshaping the separation of power i- Using constitutional doctrines to draw the lines of legislative powers

a. Case study of India's Basic Structure Doctrine.

b. Limiting legislative powers by clarifying its extent.

ii- Redefining separation of powers between center and its units

a. 18th Amendment in the Constitution of Pakistan, 1973.

b. Decentralizing powers foster a more balanced power-sharing structure among provincial and federal authorities.

iii. Public will reframing balance of power via Referendum.

a. Brexit Referendum 2016.

b. Public will decides balance of power in democratic form of government.

iv. Constitutional changes ensure separation of judiciary from legislative and executive branches of government.

a. UK Parliament's 2005 Constitutional Reform Act.

b. Establishment of Supreme Court to ensure independence of judiciary.

E Ways by which constitutional changes affect the balance of power by amending the rights of citizens²

i - Strengthening citizen's rights by ~~amending~~ redefining governmental powers

a. The USA's Bill of Rights (1791)

b. Empowering citizens to reduce hold of governmental control ii - Strengthening local Government System

a. Brazil's 1998 constitution

b. Reviving local government system to ensure representations, public participation and devolution of national resources.

iii - Empowering public Accountability by amending citizen's fundamental rights

a. Addition of article 19-A in the Constitution of Pakistan, 1973

b. Extending rights to citizen strengthen the check of public over branches of governments

F

Conclusion