Title = A Trip to Cherokee

During my last vacation, John and I decided to visit Cherokee, a county in the state of Oklahoma.

There we visited a town called, Qualla Boundary, it was surrounded by a beautiful scenery and Indian villagers that crafts.

Qualla Boundary showcased a picture of Cherokee past to the visitors. After first of all we went to the souvenir shops, filled with rubber and colourful war bonnets.

Tepees, coneshaped tents made from animal skin were also showcased at other shops. There we met George and were amazed by his fluency in English. Later, he invited us for lunch at a coffee shop. He told us that he used to cut firewood,

We came to know that one of the ways to earn a great amount here is the "Bingo Weekends". On Friday afternoons, a large bingo balls opens that attract people to various games such as super Jackpot, warrior games special. Then we came to our last stop at the Museum where art and cosmology representing Cherokee culture were displayed. After this amazing tour, I could not wait to plan our next trip.
