

The Present education system must assume some of responsibilities of our failure

1. Introduction
2. Education system and Failure : An overview
3. Defining individual and societal failures.

- lack of Technical skills.

- Mental health issues

- Shortcomings in community development efforts

- Personal development

failure.

4. How the present education system assume some of responsibilities of our failure?

4a - Outdated curriculum

curriculum creates a gap between Education and job market demands.

UNESCO report characterized Pakistan educational landscape as 'dilapidated'

4b- Rote learning doesn't allow the development of critical thinking ability among individuals

Article → X-ray of Educational System in Pakistan

4c - Promotes Competition
instead of collaboration.

Research paper → reasons of ineffectiveness in advancing community development

4d- Lack of emphasis on sports, despite its importance in holistic child development.

[Dr. Maria Montessori → "play is important for fostering social skills"]

4e - In sensitive behaviour of teachers root cause of personal development issues like low self esteem.

[Journal of youth studies → teacher insensitive
 and harsh behaviour
 ↓
 student mental health]

4f - Instead of holistic learning, economic goals are prioritized.

[Gall up Labour
 Survey]

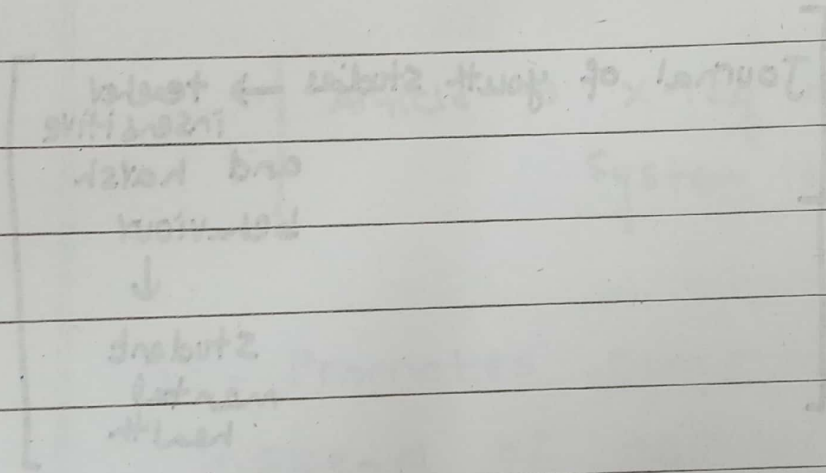

5. How the present educational system can be improved?

- teacher's training.

- Revised curriculum

- Skill based Knowledge.

6. Conclusion

MF - Instead of holistic learning, economic goals are prioritized.

Call up to support

✓

Victor Hugo once said, "Youth is the hope of the future". But who is responsible when beacon of this hope is diminished?

As per the latest census, the majority of the country population is consist of young folks. But these folks are facing numerous challenges in their life such as limited job opportunities, lack of technical and Vocational skills and mental health issues. As per the report of Gallup labour survey, a majority of students when asked about career development respondents ed that, they donot care what career it is as soon as they can make money out of it. This indicates that how the economic goals are prioritized in the current education^{System} ↑ instead of holistic learning.

In addition to this, there are issues such as outdated curriculum, and promotion of competition instead of collaboration. This actively demonstrate that there is a dire need to bolster the education system through revised curriculum and training of teachers. Thus in a nutshell, the current education system contributes to some of the individual and societal failure.