Title: The Outcome of Friendliness

Title 2: Be humble and make others humble.

The writer says that modern educational theorists must focus on positive outcome of being affectionate towards children. If a person give them value they in return will listen and obey. Loving children must not have any materialistic intention. They must not be treated like an asset. Teachers who love children can better shape their personalities without making any psycho mental pressure. The system unfortunately has made teachers to work dominantly and be controlling. ~~which~~ This causes stress and anxiety in children. The teachers have made themselves believe that there must be rules and discipline. However, friendliness with kids cannot be maintained by self-control alone. but there should not be any unnecessary rules for the naughty children. They will listen once they feel that they are important to you.
