Training Human Intelligence for Social Morality

The survival in contemporary ~~the~~ era necessitates that human intelligence is trained to love, to be kind and to be empathetic. This is essential for developing social morality in humans, which ~~is~~ is a challenge for educators and educational institutions. Social morality has never been a concern for powerful pragmatic men. For them, power is morality and morality is power. This indicates greater likelihood of nuclear destruction. There must be hope that ~~educators and education~~ ~~and~~ education sector is capable of making social morality an essential part of human intelligence. It must be discovered how humans can be made loving, kind and empathetic.

CSS Translation (2017)

In order to know our hidden ~~shortcomings~~ defects, it is necessary to know what our enemies think of us. Often, our friends praise us as we want them to. At the first place they do not see our defects as defects. Even if they do, they hide them to save us from sadness. Otherwise, ~~or~~ they make them appear unimportant. In contrast, our enemy tries his best to find our shortcomings. Our enemy makes ~~our~~ our smallest defects appear ~~significant~~ ~~big~~ very problematic. A friend always signifies ~~his friend's~~ our ~~own~~ good deeds while an enemy always signifies our defects. This is why we should be more thankful to our enemy as ~~he~~ he makes our defects known to us. If seen in this perspective, an enemy is better than a friend.
