

Literature is the best criticism of Life.

- 1) Literature helps individuals to avoid mistakes that others did.
(Novel: Pride and Prejudice by Jane Austen)

Literature helps individuals to realize their mistakes. ^{ob} ^{others} Literature ^{includes} is a wide range of books that include fiction and non-fiction. Whatever the genre is, both discuss the life of a human being. An individual is discussed with his weaknesses and flaws. Literature guides people, how others committed mistakes while opting the wrong directions. It explains the situations and the conditions in which a wrong had happened and the repercussions that are faced by those people who did that mistake. For instance, in novel Pride and Prejudice there is a character (sister) of protagonist Elizabeth, who elopes with a boy. The folly she had committed, her other sisters were also gone through difficult time because of her. Besides, the protagonist of the novel Elizabeth; she always takes right decisions after thinking upon things. Although, she was considered unreliable in the novel but still she takes decisions after wise thinking.

Jane Austen tried to present her view at the end, because, she is sapacious. It can be assumed that, through the representation of character, the writer has tried to give a message to avoid such blunders. Using a mouthpiece of a character, or portraying a character, the piece of literature helps people to avoid mistakes by learning from other's mistakes. So, literature helps individuals to avoid mistakes and by becoming a source of criticism of life.

(Note: Please tell me whether the B topic sentence, body paragraph and concluding all are fine?)