

The prevalent tug of wars may lead to world war:

Outline:

1. Introduction:

Thesis Statement: The prevalent tug of wars will not lead to world war. There are numerous factors which prevent the escalation of wars. These factors include diplomacy, economic interdependence, nuclear deterrence, international organizations and alliances. Therefore, the going on conflicts will not emerge into world war-3.

2. The prevalent tug of wars may not lead to world war: (Thesis)

2.1 Diplomacy prevents conflicts

Henry Kissinger's book "A Diplomacy"

2.2 Economic interdependence of nations

International Crisis Group Report 2023 on China-USA

2.3 Nuclear deterrence acts as war prevention

A case in Point: India vs. Pakistan

2.4 International organizations

A case in Point: The United Nations

2.5 Alliances have been preventing worldwide conflict

A case study of U.S - Israel

3. The prevalent tug of wars will lead to world war: (Anti Thesis)

3.1 International organizations have failed to prevent wars

3.2 Nuclear proliferation will cause world war-3

3.3 Economic wars may cause military aggressions

3.4 military alliances are the cause to lead world war

3.5 The rising tensions indicate world war

4. Critical analysis of the going on conflicts: (Synthesis)

4.1 Intervention of diplomacy at early stages of war

A case study of Hamas vs. Israel

4.2 Promotion of economic cooperation rather than competition

U.S - China trade war

4.3 Arms control worldwide

NPT, CTBT and SALT

4.4 Reforms in international organizations can reduce the escalation of conflicts

4.5 Enhancing the role of international community can reduce escalation

5. Conclusion:

The Essay

Giden, an author of "A punishment of Gaza" mentioned in his book that world seems to be vanished due to wars. Giden ascribed that in reality the world's conflicts can be eliminated through mutual cooperations. The mutual cooperations are negotiation, sanctions on aggressor states and unity against aggression everywhere. Undoubtedly, same is the case with current world order. The on going wars will be eliminated through numerous steps. These steps ^{include} diplomacy, nuclear deterrence and international community. The above mentioned steps in reality reduce the wars. Moreover, economic interdependence and alliances also prevent the wars to become great war. The intervention of diplomacy at early stages, promotion of economic cooperation and arms control can improve the world order tremendously. Reforms in international organizations can reduce the escalation of conflicts. Thus, the prevalence of wars will not lead to world war.