Topic: Importance of Urban green spaces

The green spaces in the urban areas have vast impacts on the human inhabitants and wildlife. They prove essential habitat for the animals and a source of escape and peace from the rushed city (lives). Parks and ^{such} the shared public spaces promote a sense of community and belonging, and allow cultural activities to take place. But difficulties lie in creating a balance between urbanization and environmentalism. It has become a mutual duty of all to create such green spaces that sustain human and environmental health. As the cities continuously evolve, it is important to adapt and create ways that promote the coexistence of human development and environment protection.
