

"Poverty is no disgrace."

Poverty enhances people's life morally. Pooors usually enjoy their hard tasks. The history has proven that many people having good traits considered good based on their limited resources. According to author poverty is respétable than whereas misery is not. There is no disrespect in bearing poverty while those addicted to begging find disrespect. Although pooors are the happiest than rich. Despite the jealousy, they do not take their place.