Q8. (a) Write down short notes on the following:
(10 marks)

Poverty and Trade in South Asia and the Role of SAARC:

1. Poverty in South Asia:

South Asia has one of the highest concentrations of poverty in the world with millions of people living below the poverty line. Factors contributing to this include high population growth, lack of access to education, poor healthcare and limited economic opportunities. Countries like India, Pakistan, Bangladesh and Nepal face significant challenges in reducing poverty, despite economic growth in some sectors.

“As of 2021, 35% of the population in South Asia lives on less than

$3.20 a day, the international poverty line for lower middle class-income countries”

2. Trade as a Tool for Poverty Reduction:

Trade can play a pivotal role in poverty reduction by increasing job opportunities, boosting incomes and improving all economic development. By engaging in regional and global trade, South Asian countries can leverage their resources, develop industries and improve living standards.

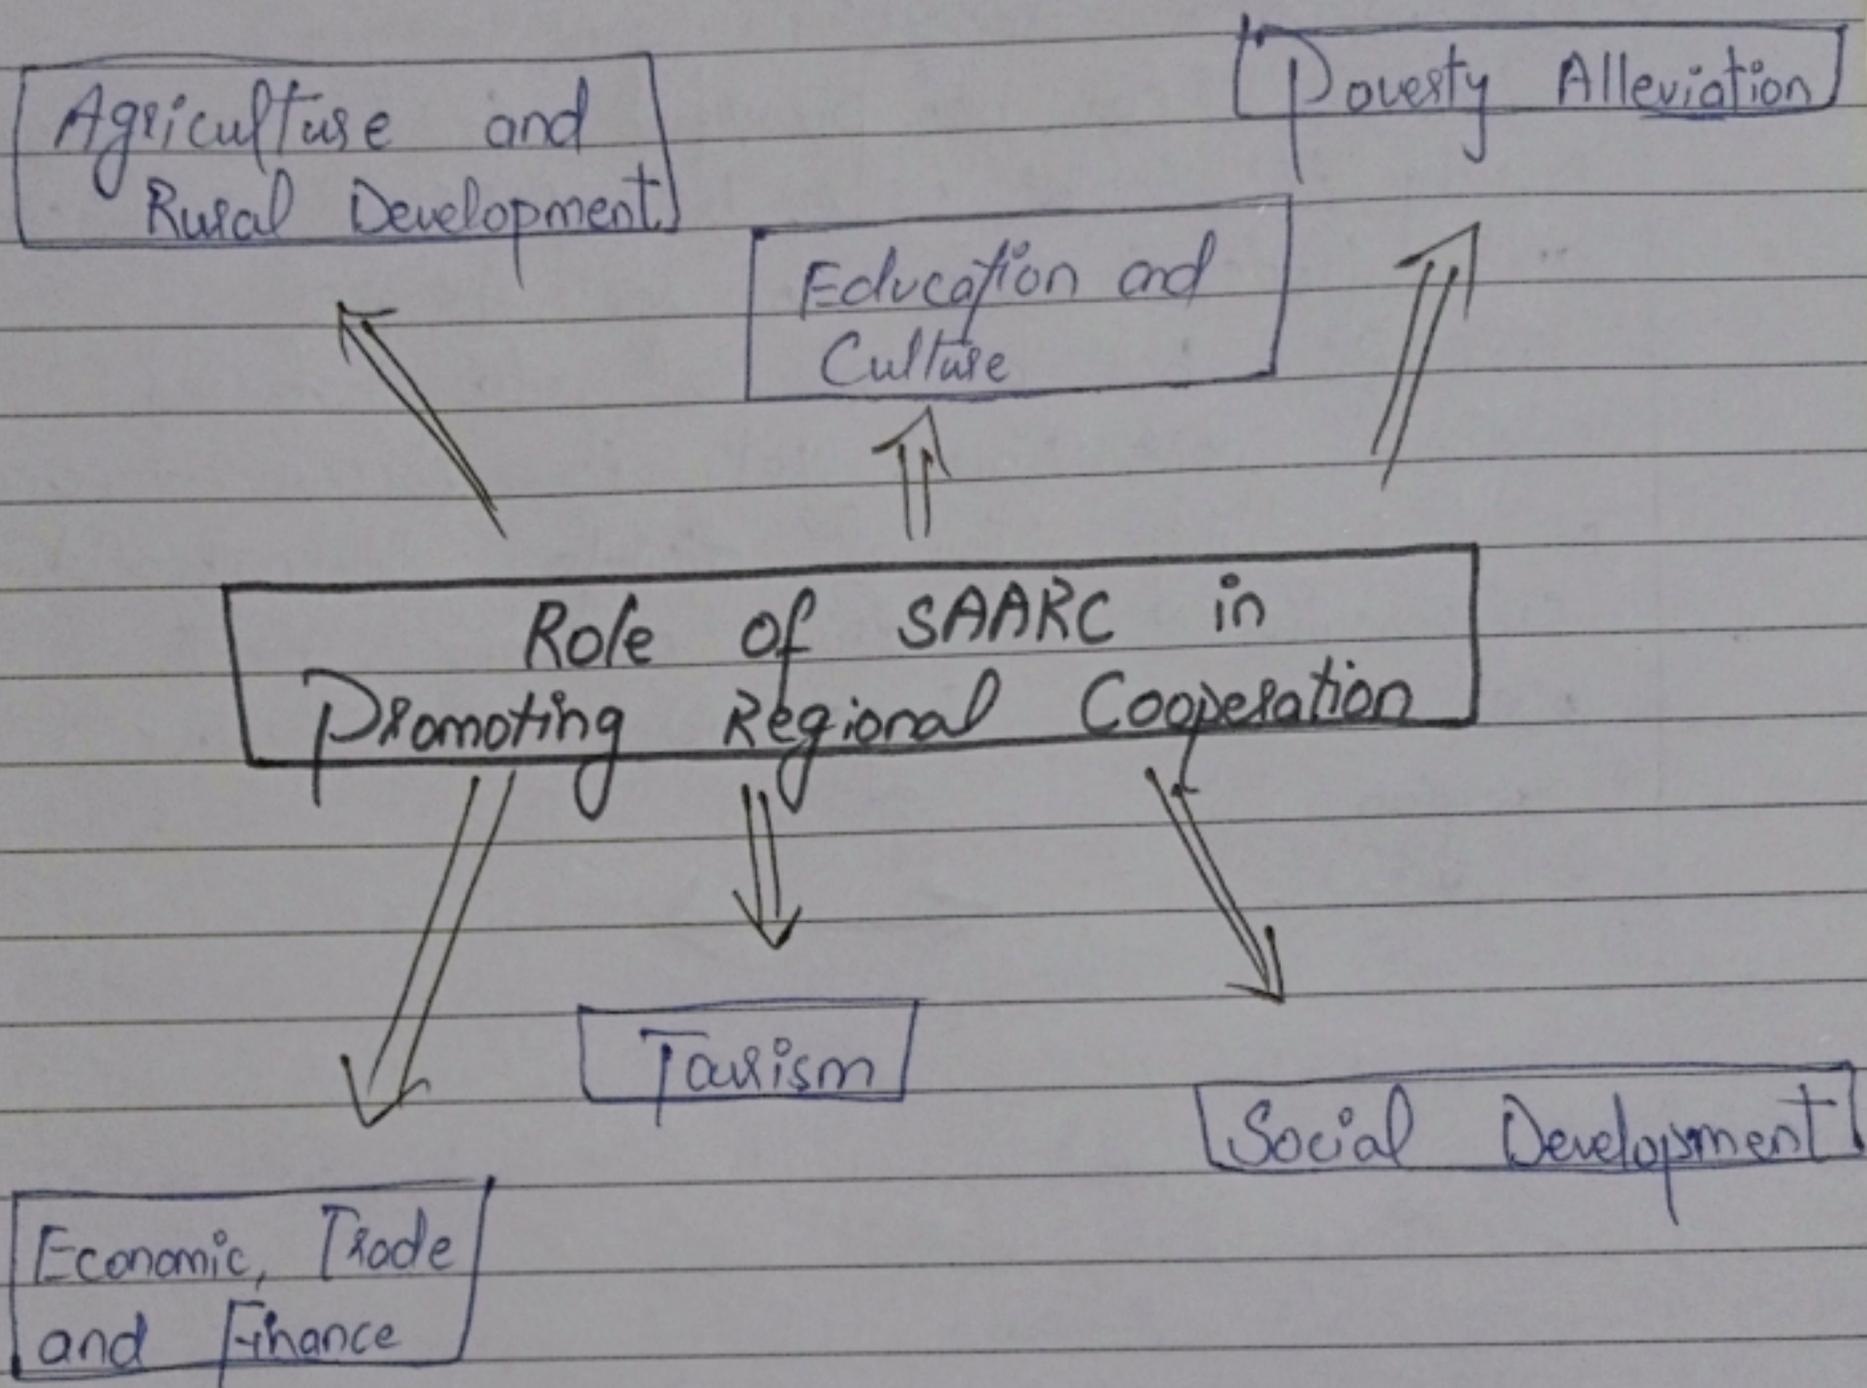

"The COVID-19 pandemic pushed as estimated 50 million people in South Asia into extreme poverty, reversing years of progress in poverty reduction"

3. Role of SAARC:

The South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC) was formed in 1985 with the aim of promoting economic, social and cultural cooperation among its member states.

"The main purpose of SAARC is to encourage countries in South Asia to work together, reduce poverty and improve the quality of life for the people"

(Abul Ahson)
(1st Secretary-General of SAARC)

4. SAFTA : (South Asian Free Trade Area)

The South Asian Free Trade Area (SAFTA), launched by SAARC in 2006, aims to reduce trade barriers among member states to enhance economic integration and trade cooperation.

"By reducing trade barriers, SAFTA makes it easier for businesses in South Asia to sell goods to each other"

Concluding Thought:

Trade can be a powerful tool to reduce poverty in South Asia, but political conflicts and trade barriers hinder progress.

SAARC has a potential to foster regional cooperation, yet its success depends on resolving internal disputes. Strengthened collaboration can drive economic growth and improve living standards across the region.
