Title: Teaching in the Modern Times

Today's educationists are more concerned with non-interference in children's activities. Instead of giving importance to the child's company, they tend to be conscious of their personal freedom. The writer believes that teachers should develop liking for children without any purpose or interest in them. That will naturally lead to non-interference or necessary interference where necessary. However, it is difficult for over-burdened teachers to have a natural liking for children. Instead of creating pre-determined rules for the naughty kids, teachers should, sometimes, rely on impulse to make a right decision. All those decisions will be right which makes children feel affectionated and loved.

Unit 3: Comprehension

1) What leads us to believe that this passage is from a science fiction story?

Ans:- The clumsy deliberation of a round bear like creature that was rising slowly and painfully out of the cylinder, who was inhuman, crippled and monstrous like nasty thing made us believe that this passage is from a science fiction story.

2) How was the crowd behaving?

Ans:- The crowd seemed greatly agitated and excited. There were loud voices and a constant struggle appeared to be going on. People were elbowing and jostling one another.

3) Why did the mood of the crowd alter?

Ans:- The mood of the crowd alter because they expected a man to emerge out of the cylinder. But there was a monstrous like thing, rising from the edge of a cylinder. Astonishment was soon converted into horror on the faces of the people.

4) What was the narrator's initial reaction to the thing?

Ans:- A sudden chill came over the narrator when he saw a thing.

Q) Why did the writer feel disgusted?

Ans-

The writer felt disgusted because the monster like thing was unspeakably nasty with the oily-brown skin, v-shaped mouth, and that too, under the eyes, absence of chin and brow ridges and the incessant quivering of his mouth. Therefore, the writer felt disgusted.

Q No 5- Punctuate

A hungry lion slipped out of the forest into a barnyard. One evening, when he saw a plump donkey his mouth began to water, but just as he was ready to jump on the donkey, a rooster crowed. He was frightened, and so turned away into the forest again. "Hey, look at that cowardly lion!" the donkey brayed to the rooster. "I am going to chase him," and the donkey ran after the lion. "Wait!" the rooster shouted. "You do not know that", but it was too late the lion had turned and killed the donkey. "Ah, my poor stupid friend!" the rooster said as he watched the lion eating the donkey. The lion was not afraid of you but of my crowing.

Translation :-

Pakistan is determined for peace in Afghanistan because Afghanistan it is indispensable ^{to} for Pakistan's peace. If when seen in historical perspective, Pakistan and Afghanistan share historical, traditional and linguistic relationship as being Islamic neighborhood countries. This relationship is unbreakable, both are interdependent upon each other and both cannot stand apart. The narrative of Pakistan from the day first is to take out the political solution of the Afghan problem. This stance is also supported by China. In this regard, China says that the solution to the Afghan's issue is ~~only~~ possible ~~to solve~~ only in the leadership of Afghan. Pakistan and China can play their roles in solving Afghan's issue through strategic partnership and negotiations.
