

"Feminism is not really a third world issue."

A. Introduction

B. Feminism is really a third world issue :-

1. Lack of women empowerment is a sponge to third world countries economy.
2. Absence of women political representation, undermines almost half of countries representation.
3. Women are being deprived of basic health facilities.
4. Patriarchal norms are a restriction to freedom of third world women.
5. Insufficient technological accessibility make women feel intellectually inferior.
6. Female labour is being exploited.
7. Fragile policies for equal pay and entrepreneurship support for women.
8. Inadequate enforcement of women rights.
9. Marginalization of women in IT sectors.
10. Enculturation adversely affects women's psychological abilities.
11. Women are deprived of basic resources.
12. Women are major affectees of Environmental Hazards.

C. Conclusion